RESPONSE AFTER FINAL UNDER 37 CFR 1.116

Commissioner for Patents
P.O. Box 1450
Alexandria, VA 22313-1450

Sir:

Applicant responds to the Office Action of July 14, 2004 as follows.

Claim 11 remains in the application.

Reconsideration is respectfully requested of the rejection of claim 11 under 35 USC 102(e), as being anticipated by Peterson '020.

Features of the data processing method in an accounting system including an accounting center and a terminal device according to the present invention are a step of transmitting accounting points stored in a first memory of the terminal device to the accounting center, and a step of carrying an accounting processing in the accounting center based on the accounting points transmitted from the terminal device. See Fig. 9 and pages 39-40 of the present application, for example.

Claim 11 recites these features of the present invention.

It is respectfully submitted that Peterson '020 fails to show or suggest transmitting the accounting points from the terminal device to the accounting center and the accounting center carrying out an accounting process based on the accounting points transmitted from the terminal device. Peterson '020 is merely teaching the use of a general prepaid card (88 in Fig. 3) which requires the user to contact the accounting center to purchase the card or to adjust the amount of the prepaid funds (91 in Fig. 3). In the system taught by Peterson '020 there is no transmission of the accounting points from the terminal device to the accounting center.

Further, col. 2, lines 62-66 of Peterson '020 pointed to in the Office Action as teaching the transmission of the accounting points from the terminal device to the accounting center is merely teaching the use of an online authorization process, wherein a consumer may purchase the right to view a movie for a certain fee. There is no transmission of the accounting points from the terminal device to the accounting center in such system.

Accordingly, at least because Peterson '020 fails to show or suggest transmitting the accounting points from the terminal device to the accounting center and the accounting center carrying out an accounting process based on the accounting points transmitted by the terminal device, it is respectfully submitted that claim 11 is patentably distinct over Peterson '020.

Favorable reconsideration is earnestly solicited.

Respectfully submitted,
